

News Release from the IULTCS

October 11, 2017

IULTCS Supporting Next Generation Research – Last Chance to Apply for 2018 Young Leather Scientist Grant

The IULTCS initiative of investing in the next generation of leather research through its Young Leather Scientist Grant (YLSG) programme successfully enters its 4th year. With financial support from Lear Corporation, the programme continues to generate much interest. Winning the award represents a prestigious achievement for both the selected Researcher and the Academic Institute where they conduct their research.

The deadline for the 2018 Young Leather Scientist Research Grant is rapidly approaching. Submissions for this research award need to be submitted by 31 October 2017 for review by the Research Commission of the IULTCS.

The grant of €1,500 will be awarded in January 2018 to a scientist under the age of 35 for research in the leather field. The IULTCS encourages leaders in the industry to bring notice of the award to any institutions and individuals who are committed to research and the advancement of understanding of leather.

Details of eligibility requirements, application procedure, and necessary documentation are available on the IULTCS website (www.iultcs.org) under the Research-IUR link and on the IULTCS Facebook page.

End News Release ##

For editorial Information: Christine Powley-Williams Email: christine.powley-williams@satra.com
Tel: +44 7525 905738